FLESH IS HEIR TO MANY ILLS— THAT'S WHY DOCTORS SELL THEIR PILLS

Don't some things give you a pain?

Many human ailments are universal and Xenia physicians testify almost everybody has had an aching tooth, a "splitting headache," corns, boils, indigestion and many ills.

Xenia's most chronic ailment appears to be the common cough, it is the consensus of opinion among doctors.

Human aches walk hand in hand with the seasons and the weather. A number of physical complaints are attributed to weather changes. It is alleged that "croup" is the sweetest, but that of the inevitable raging pains in stomach following the theft of shining green apples from the farmer's orchard. That it said to be one of the most hated and peculiar pains coming to attention of physicians.

Grip, indigestion, colds, measles, bronchitis, tonsillitis, headaches, toothaches, earaches, boils and the various forms of rheumatics are the most hated and most common maladies, doctors believe. There are some ailments that all flesh is heir to.

Here are some you may laugh at if you care to.

The person whose head Hasn't ached for a minute.

Can feel pretty sure That there isn't much in it.

And where is the man Who has not had to holler From the pain of a boil Nestling under his collar?

A jaw badly puffed Is a symbol, forsooth, Of a bad case of mumps Or a rampaging tooth.

A pain in the stomach Is one of the ills That causes much groaning And taking of pills.

WHO'S WHO AND WHAT'S HAPPENED

MARY WAITE shares two rooms with

CELIA STEWART, and works as a stenographer and general assistant in the office of

STANLEY BLAKE. Mary has few friends, but Celia goes out frequently, although Stanley is married. Mary goes to supper with PAT HAMILTON, whom she has met before but whose attention she has refused because he is married, and sees Celia and Stanley at another table.

TODAY'S INSTALLMENT

XXIII—THE STORM

MARY sat staring at the tablecloth, almost afraid to look again toward the table across the restaurant where Celia and Stanley were sitting with Stanley

Blake. She felt ashamed for them, embarrassed. She had known ever since she answered the telephone that morning, just after Celia went out, when Blake had talked to her thinking she was Celia, that Celia went out with him even though he was yet it was a shock to look over there and see them together.

"And it's so late, too—after midnight," Mary told herself. "Oh, she ought not to do that."

And on the heels of that thought came another one. She herself was there with a married man, Pat Hamilton.

"But that's different," Mary told herself. "I didn't want to come, and I'm never going to see him again." She hoped that Celia wouldn't notice her. Then she could pretend she hadn't seen them.

And Celia, glancing over toward Mary and then looking quickly away, was saying to Stanley Blake at that very moment:

"Don't look, but Mary's sitting over there with a man whose face is awfully familiar, somehow; I think I must have seen his picture in the newspapers."

"What does he look like?"

"Oh, awfully good-looking, loads older than she is. Mary's a sly one. Goes on quietly day after day and never says much about her own affairs—I never know what she's doing or where she goes when I'm not with her."

"One thing you do know—that she doesn't go out with me," he answered. "Do you think she suspects that we see so much of each other?"

"She will if you aren't more careful," Celia answered. "And of course if she happens to look over here and see us—oh well, I'll tell her this very minute to the house wanting to see her about some work, and that as she wasn't there you asked me to come out and have supper with you before you went back home. How's that for a nice fib? By the way, who do you suppose it was who answered the phone when you called me today? It wasn't Mary, was it? That would be awful!"

"I didn't sound like her voice—but then, she just said 'Hello,'" he answered. "I think she'd have talked to me, told me you weren't there, if it had been Mary."

"It might be a good idea if she did know," Celia told him suddenly. "It might be a good idea if your wife knew, too. I'm getting tired of all this deception. You say that you care for me, and I believe you do, but we just go on, without any hope of ever having things different, and

"Now listen, dear—I've told you a dozen times that I can't do anything till my business gets on its feet. When it's well established, and I can pay back the money I borrowed from my wife to get started, then it'll be time to try to do something. I'll explain things to her, and of course she'll divorce me, and then we can get married. Just be patient."

"Yes, just be patient," muttered Celia, disgustedly. "And meanwhile we may go on for years and years, and I'll get older and older, and have nobody but you—"

His mouth twisted into an unpleasant smile as he sat there listening to her, watching her. She had let her mask drop, for once; was telling her thoughts, thoughts that a more clever woman would have kept to herself. For the first time Stanley Blake wondered why he had been so infatuated by Celia. Pretty—yes, charming—of course, but when she talked this way, when her eyes narrowed and her lips drew back in that unpleasant way, she was neither pretty nor charming. In fact, she looked rather like a shrew!

And suddenly he was glad that the safe barrier of matrimony stood between him and her. He realized how much more his wife meant to him than Celia did. He wanted to get away, to be free of this woman with whom he had spent so much time and on whom he had spent so much money that should have gone elsewhere. Well, he'd slip out of the entanglement easily; it would be simple enough. Business was an excuse he could always give for not seeing her, just as he had frequently given it to his wife when he wanted to go somewhere with Celia instead of going home.

Lucky that there'd been nothing much between them. Really, she had no hold on him. It had been just a flirtation, that meant nothing—now that he wanted to get out of it. And so he flattered himself, never suspecting that although he could stop seeing Celia, he could not stop the consequences of his affair with her.

He'd make her a present—something rather nice—and then he'd have business out of town, and when he got back—oh well, the thing would straighten itself out somehow. He smiled a little and straightened his tie, rather pleased at the thought that this pretty girl was in love with him.

He would have been less pleased had he been able to read Celia's mind at that particular moment.

"Really, he's absolutely stupid," she was thinking. "Not half so interesting as that man Mary's with. I'll bet. Clever little mix, she is not to let me know she knew anybody like that. She's fooled me, all right. I've made a mistake about Mary. I'll have to be nicer to her. Wonder how I can get rid of Stanley; really, he's not much use to me except that he's somebody to go around with."

"Want to start along?" asked Stanley, beckoning to the waiter for the check.

"Well—I—" Celia glanced once more toward the table where Mary sat with Pat Hamilton. "It's like I told you, Stanley. I'd like to go over and speak to Mary before we leave."

Blake saw through her scheme, and smiled.

"You can speak to her when she gets home tonight."

As they waited for a taxi that smiled up at him, telling herself that she must let him slip away from her until some other man had taken his place. Free dinners and theater tickets were not to be despised, even though one was no longer interested in the man who contributed them!

"I'll see you tomorrow, won't I, Stanley?" she murmured sweetly.

"Well—I— I may have to go out of town," he answered lamely.

And Celia knew as well as he did just where things stood between them.

Tomorrow—A Mystery.

Though colds are annoying And painful, I'm sure That the very worst cough Is no worse than the cure.

And many romances Have died e'er well born, When hubby has rocked On his wife's pet corn.

CONSTANT CURLING,
WAVING DRIES
LIFE FROM HAIR

Girls just must curl and wave bobbed hair to appear their prettiest. But constant curling and waving burn and dry the luster, vitality and very life from the hair. To offset these bad effects, just get a 35-cent bottle of delightful, refreshing "Dandarine" at any drug store or toilet counter and just see for yourself how quickly it revives dry, brittle, lifeless, and fading hair.

"Dandarine" is a dependable tonic and will do wonders for any girl's hair. It nourishes, stimulates and strengthens each single hair, bringing back that youthful gleam, glint and vigorous luxuriance. Falling hair stops and dandruff disappears. "Dandarine" is pleasant and easy to use.—Adv.

The Theatre

It has cost Charles Ray, "farmer boy" of the movies, a fortune to outlive a type. The fortune has been well-spent. He has accomplished his purpose.

Ray created a character. He was unique in the world of motion pictures. His torn hat was famous as are Lloyd's glasses and Chaplin's moustache and cane.

But Charles Ray was an actor first—a character later. Because he is an artist he could not endure being just a type. "I would rather do artistic work," he says, "and feel I am really creating something—and not have a dime, than do work which does not satisfy me and have millions."

He has proven his statement to of St. John's A. M. E. Church for more than forty years and held all the church offices. He was also affiliated with Wilberforce Lodge No. 21, F. and A. M. and with Damon Lodge, No. 29, Knights of Pythias. He was secretary of Cherry Grove Cemetery Board for more than thirty-six years.

Funeral services will be held Saturday afternoon at 1:30 at St. John's A. M. E. Church, with interment in Cherry Grove Cemetery.

Social will be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Rickman, 709 E. Market St., Thursday night at 5 o'clock for the benefit of St. John's A. M. E. Church and band No. 11 under direction of Mrs. Rickman.

The Rev. T. L. Ferguson, district superintendent will hold his quarterly meeting, March 17, at the Third M. E. Church, E. Market St.

The Mutual Benefit Society will meet Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. Florence McGathey, E. Market St.

Rev. O. O. Jones, E. Second St., has been called to the pastorate of the Second Baptist Church, London, Ohio.

There will be a box social at the Middle Run Baptist Church, E. Church St., Saturday night.

The Rev. J. G. Robinson, Philadelphia, Pa., editor of the "A. M. E. Review" noted lecturer and extensive traveler, will preach at First A. M. E. Church Wednesday night at 8 o'clock.

background thoughts of spring days and the first circus, but it is practically certain that this harbinger will fill the town on the heels of the last gesture of winter.

The circus showman knows only one season because his tented performances dare not face the rigors of winter, but he takes advantage of every minute of good weather that presents itself. Storms and rainy days cut too deeply in his itinerary as it is for him to sacrifice premature sunshine in spring months.

The circus is an American institution that seems never to fade in popularity. The smell of the sawdust gets in the blood of Ameri-

Robins may come and robins may go but the coming of the circus will be the one convincing sign that spring has come at last.

FOR A HEALTHIER WORLD

ONE of the important but not generally realized results of the World War was the impetus given to the health conservation movement. It may seem somewhat anomalous that a conflict in which the nations appeared to be trying to kill off as many human beings as possible should give rise to interest in the work of preserving life and building up strong, healthy physiques, but this is a fact.

There was never a time when so many different organized agencies were at work fighting disease and spreading knowledge of how to get and keep well as at present. A representative of the National Health Council estimates that at least 70,000,000 persons throughout the world are sick all the time. There are about 35,000,000 deaths annually. Students of the subject believe four-fifths of the cases of illness are preventable. And this is the keynote of modern medicine and the numerous organizations mentioned: prevention.

Co-operation in international health work is to be the winning factor in the war on disease. It is now recognized that national efforts without this co-operation can accomplish little. Epidemics have a way of leaping over national boundaries and even over oceans, as was shown in the last outbreak of influenza in Europe which invaded our country. Leaders in the fight are the International Health Board of the Rockefeller Foundation and League of Red Cross Societies. The Epidemic Commission of the League of Nations has also done good work in combatting typhus in Poland, Russia and Rumania. When it is stated that the expectancy of life in New Zealand is 60 years, whereas in America and Great Britain it is only 45 and in India 25, the immensity of the task of the health crusaders is better appreciated.

PEEVED

AMUNDSEN, polar explorer, has been rebuked by the National Geographic Society because, after visiting Dr. Cook Leavenworth Penitentiary, he said in public, a few kind words for his unfortunate co-explorer.

The society invited Amundsen to speak before its august body and then recalled the invitation after the explorer's call on Dr. Cook, although what Amundsen had to say suffered no decrease in value through that visit.

Apparently members of the society will have nothing to do with those who befriend the man who once buncoed them, or by whom they claim they were buncoed. If the geographers feel that the Danish explorer was taking sides with Dr. Cook against them, they should have better concealed their displeasure and embarrassment by outwardly showing respect for a man kind and courageous enough to give comfort to a forlorn friend even at the danger of self prejudice. And yet, the role of the good sport is a difficult one when one is made the butt of a practical joke or a fraud.

The geographers might be generous enough to concede that even though Dr. Cook didn't reach the pole he did a lot toward placing it on the map and toward giving an impetus to the general exploration business.

PRIZE

MORE and more the trouble in China defines itself as a continuation of the struggle between those history old rivals and Japan, which the Peace of Portsmouth interrupted but did not settle. But for the conflict between Russia and Japan, peace might now reign in China.

Before the war and revolution the foreign policy of the Russia of the czars was controlled by the country's need for warm-water ports. Russian commerce under the Soviet government feels no less the need for year-around harbors. Japan's population long ago reached the saturation point of the country's territory, so her national problem of first importance is territorial expansion.

Manchuria has been the apple of the eye of both Russia and Japan for more than a score of years and the center of civil wars and other domestic disorders fomented alternately by the two neighboring powers.

To Russia, Manchuria offers the warm-water ports of which she has such need. To Japan, Manchuria offers unlimited area for colonization by her overflow population. And, in addition to these attractions, Manchuria is potentially wealthy, although undeveloped; is equal in area to Iowa, Nebraska, Minnesota and the Dakotas, and is as well adapted to agriculture as those five American states.

It is not surprising that the Chinese have cultivated a distrust and fear of the foreigner. They have good cause for their present state of panic.

NEED A LITTLE LESSON

THE school teachers of Montclair, N. J., who are demanding Oriental rugs for the teachers' room, should have called to their attention the fact that the money paid them in salaries does not come from the Orient, and that the manufacturers of Oriental rugs in no way aid to support or carry on a school in Montclair or any other place. If this country were to depend upon such support then there would be no school at Montclair, indeed there would be no Montclair. It is time even teachers gave a bit of heed to things that are American. It is the American manufacturer who turns in his share of the money to support the Government of the United States, and but for the taxes collected from manufacturers in New Jersey that state government would have very little upon which to operate. A public building that is outfitted with rugs of foreign make is displaying its disregard for American institutions.

And the hurt of its passing refuse. Nothing from sorrow is free. Nothing is hopelessly bad. The sinner, repentant, may be restored to the place he once had.

Thalloss that we suffer was sown In the soil where our pleasure was grown.

Who smiles in the love of a friend Must carry with him through the years

For the day when that friendship shall end

An equal proportion of tears.

The richer the treasures we reap, The bitterer some day we'll weep.

You take not a babe in your arms Without risking the pain of the day

When your little one's glorious charms

From your arms may be taken away.

And the things which most proudly you boast

Bear the stings that shall hurt you the most.

We are creatures of possible pain, We have naught that shall not pass away.

We must give up whatever we gain Things eternal are not for the clay.

The life that we love we must give Unto death that the spirit may live.

NEFF HOUSE

Story of the Neff House, one of the most famous buildings ever erected in the county, which undoubtedly housed more people than any other building in the county, reveals the varied and interesting history of the building from its construction in 1840 until its final disappearance in 1892.

The building was erected on a bluff near Yellow Springs and for years was crowded with visitors from all parts of the United States. First building was erected by Judge William Mills, founder of the village. It was a large structure with dimensions of 250 by 60 feet.

The structure was found to be insufficient to handle the crowds that came from far and near during the summer season, and four cottages were subsequently built by Judge Mills on grounds adjoining the large building.

William Neff, Cincinnati, bought the buildings and a tract of ground immediately adjacent in 1841 for a consideration of $15,000. He also purchased 160 acres adjoining from Elisha Mills.

The house was a financial success for the new proprietor during the summer and fall of 1842. Frank Hafner, Cincinnati, the chef, managed it during the summer months. Neff visited in the county at intervals.

Later the building was closed to the public and converted by Neff into a private residence, where he died in 1854. Property then passed to his son, William C. Neff, who improved the buildings and opened them again as a summer resort. He leased the buildings to Mrs. Gilbert who was in charge during the summer seasons until they destroyed by fire during the Civil War.

The owner did not rebuild until after the war but erected a magnificent structure in 1871. It was four stories high and contained 300 rooms—more rooms than all of the hotels of the county combined. It represented an outlay of more than $100,000.

For several seasons the business flourished but by 1890 was not a paying investment. Neff dismantled the house in 1892 and shipped to Cincinnati.

MODISH MITZI—Regiments Of New Suits

By JAY V. JAY

"Four out of every five wear them," comments Polly to herself as she walks down the street observing the suits that are passing by. That's a very good average for one style. Perhaps the reason for the popularity of suits is the variety of styles.

Polly's suit has the little short jacket, the next suit is the two-piece style, with a vestee effect. The blouse worn with it is plain, tailored and affects no tie. The collar is notched and the suit is mannishly tailored. The skirt is short, well, almost knee length!

Adelaide wears the dark suit with the jabot and high collar. It's a dinner costume of black velvet, and takes its inspiration from a tuxedo. The other suit in Kashmirreen has a coat that buttons on the side and the very full skirt, flared by means of godet.

One new suit has braces of striped elastic, the matches the braces. The other extreme of the short jacket is shown in the costume suit with long cape coat. This too, is popular. Mitzi herself believes that American women will be 99 and something percent well suited this season!

Today's Talk

JUST A FARMER

My friend and I were talking the other day. We talked of many things, but soon the conversation had to turn to the things we were both most interested in.

"I'm just a farmer," said my friend. "I love the out-of-doors." I remembered receiving a letter many years ago from a man in Pennsylvania, telling me of his appreciation of these brief Talks, inviting me to come and see him, and signing himself "just a farmer."

I wonder what this world would be without its just-a-farmers?

I grove through a wonderful country recently. I drove past miles and miles of fruit trees that had borne fruit for a quarter of a century. I thought of all that each orchard owner had gone through to bring this country to its magnificent state of richness.

The man who goes out into a wooden or barren land and clears and cultivates—works and waits—something more than "just a farmer." He is a builder, a benefactor, one of God's choice friends. To get down close to the earth, to feel its warmth, to feel its throb of hope through all the seasons, all the changes, all the discouragements, is to be blessed by Heaven. The city man gets little poetry out of his hot and cold pavements and money-moving crowds. But the country man lives a poem. He awakes with the song of the birds and he breathes into his nostrils air that is perfumed with the health giving elixir of every servant of nature.

There are no nobler workers in this world than—just the farmers. How I envy the farmer at springtime as he turns the dirt and hears the welcome songs of the returned birds.

Somehow beauty hovers about the farmhouse, its individual buildings and work machinery, its team horses, its cows, pigs, sheep, hens—and the faithful dog.

A small part, at least, of every man's life should be spent upon the farm, or in farming. It helps to link the meaning of life where ever lived.

I was so weak and tired all the time I could not work more than two hours each day, then had to go to bed for the rest of the day. ## BELL TELEPHONE WILL ASK RATE INCREASE; WILL AFFECT XENIA

COLUMBUS, O., March 17.—The Ohio Bell Telephone Co. will soon apply to the State Public Utilities Commission for a general increase in rates throughout the state, President C. P. Cooper, of the company, announced this afternoon.

Cities against which the rate increase would be assessed include Tuscarawas, Xenia, Upper Sandusky, Fostoria, Lancaster, Piqua, Sandusky, Bellaire, Dayton, Toledo, Canton and Cleveland. Cooper's announcement came while he was testifying in the state-wide investigation of rate increases already proposed before the commission.

The new increase would be supplemental to the old involving procedure similar to that of the Logan Gas Co.'s demand of the commission's approval of a new rate schedule before the old had been approved or rejected.

BISHOP REESE WILL CONFIRM CLASS AT EPISCOPAL CHURCH

Rt. Rev. Theodore I. Reese, bishop coadjutor of the Episcopal diocese of Southern Ohio, will conduct the simple but beautiful confirmation service at Christ Episcopal Church, Wednesday evening.

Bishop Reese will also preach, discussing some of the practical questions of religion.

It is explained that confirmation is an act or ceremony that has come down from the earliest days of Christianity, through which a person takes upon himself the full responsibilities of church membership. It is sometimes spoken of as "the laying on of hands," which forms the central part of the service, symbolizing the bestowal of spiritual strength.

Preceding the services, a church supper will be served in the parlors of the First Baptist Church.

"Waiter, the menu," said Mrs. Ella Van Brink to the man behind her as she dined in a New York Hotel with David Blair. She reached for the paper and found in her hand not a menu but a summons in a $50,000 suit for the stolen affections of Blair, brought by Mrs. Blair.

A guest at the Wardman Park Hotel, Washington walked across the lounge to smell an attractive rose, only to find that it was metal. Static electricity sent a spark between her nose and the rose, and now she is suing the hotel for $20,000, because her startled scream attracted attention.

Because they live more natural lives and exercise more, men are more beautiful physically than women, according to Prof. Frank Kleeberger, of the University of California, who scorns modern women as "top-sided, clumsy, flabby or round-shouldered, and either too fat or too thin."

A Berlin merchant, broke, filed a petition in bankruptcy, only to win next day the $125,000 state lottery prize.

A Milwaukee woman picked a demure, quiet-looking girl for her husband's secretary, only to find next week that her husband had been effectively vamped and had run away with the secretary.

SCORING THE PROHIBITIONISTS for their refusal to consider a referendum in the dry law and declaring that the non-enforcement evil is becoming intolerable, Emory R. Buckner, United States attorney, has launched a movement for a compromise state enforcement law which would tolerate the sale of light wines and beer. This law he considers a necessary expedient to rectify the present disregard for law and to stop the sale of denatured alcohol liquor, "the poor man's poison." "There has been altogether too little voting on the subject," he declared.

TORCH. Able to cut through armor plate at the rate of one foot a minute, and under water at that, the torch devised by Commander Edwin Ellsberg (above) will be used in salvaging the sunken submarine S-51, cut down in Long Island Sound by coastwise steamer and sunk with great loss of life.

GOVERNOR SIGNS BILL. A. Harry Moore, New Jersey's chief executive, recently approved measure providing $3,000,000 in five yearly installments as part of New Jersey's share of cost of projected bridge between Fort Lee, N. J., and upper Manhattan. New York's Legislature is expected to appropriate a similar amount. The unofficial sketch of the bridge pictured at right is published in the current issue of the Popular Science Monthly. It gives the reader an accurate idea of the magnitude of the proposed structure, which, when completed, will have cost approximately $40,000,000 and be the largest in the world.

HOPE HAMPTON (center) is suing Charles B. Dillingham (left) for cutting her out of the title role of "Mme. Pompadour" in favor of Wilda Bennett (right). She asks $25,000.

FADES from the silver screen. Constance Talmadge (above) will retire from motion pictures and devote herself to home life, United Artists announce. She recently married, and has only three pictures contracted to make.

"FORTUNE favors the industrious" is the moral that might be drawn from the story of these two brothers and their sister. While Peter Moller (below) wandered aimlessly around the world, his brother, Mathis (top) and his sister, Louise (center), applied themselves diligently to work. Now, fifty-seven years after they parted, Mathis, a millionaire, and Louise, the owner of a large hotel in Hagerstown, Md., are preparing to welcome home their brother, who after a long search has been found ill and penniless in California.

A BELLER COAT of gray Cheney bengaline. The fashionable cape effect is carried out by a back panel, banded with fox fur. The collar is also of fox. Posing by Marion Dabney.

HERE'S A TURKEN, the bird that is a cross between a turkey and a chicken. Not handsome, perhaps, but important. The Santa Cruz, Cal., Chamber of Commerce has had many inquiries about this new fowl, which it is expected will soon replace the turkey for Thanksgiving dinners. The meat has all the rare flavor of turkey and all the tenderness of a barnyard broiler. Donald Cranbourne, 4-year-old son of the secretary manager of the Chamber of Commerce, is practicing with the lasso.

MODIFIED princess lines, bell sleeves and cleverly contrived godets are the outstanding style notes in a girlish frock of silk brocade worn by Blanche Sweet. The sleeves are finished with bands of fur and contrasting silk.

SIXI MURDER haunts young Martin Maroney, 19, he told the New York police after his arrest in connection with the slaying. In a signed confession, police say, he admits he was present on the night, three months ago, when the Sengalese pugilist was slain. Maroney is shown above (right) in the custody of Detective Walter Clancy.

THE MODERN BELLE

Mary Turner Downing, 215 Curtis St., Middletown, takes the $100 prize offered for the best parody on "The Modern Belle." Here it is!

The daughter never sits in the parlor
And knows hardly the use of a chair,
But like a butterfly she's flitting
Here, there and everywhere.
She smokes and flirts and Charleston,
She Charleston, and flirts and smokes;
She talks a lot of mere nothings,
But she is surely there on the jakes.

Her father must ride in a flivver
While she sports a gay limousine;
Her mother must wash with a washboard,
Instead of a washing machine,
But that doesn't bother this girlie,
She spends with a positive thrill—
Because a bobbed head won't stay curly,
And the fashions refuse to stand still.

She reaches the bed at midnight
Or the wee small hours of the dawn;
It's seldom she ever sees daylight,
Cause when she gets up it's gone.
She soids at the clock and the house-maid
And raves at the dresser of hair;
She can't remember on this night
Which boy friend to expect to be there.

Her feet always ache just a little,
Her face is so very white,
Her eyes are so very heavy,
And her dress is so very light.
But her face is improved with cosmetics,
Which she doesn't mind to own;
Tho her fingers are heavy with diamonds—
There is one still free of a stone.

Then she falls in love with a fellow
Who supplies the missing stone there;
He marries her for her money,
She married him for his "air."
Everyone says "lucky devils,"
They're very well mated in life;
She got a sheik for a husband,
And he got a vamp for a wife.

A check is being mailed to Miss Downing today. Hope she will keep it and use it on All Fool's Day. Remember it's going to be a big day. Let's have more contributions. I. Will Tellum, let's hear from you again.

My good friend Dix of the Wooster Record let the following get into his paper the other day. "Before Lady Cathcart can be legally deported back to England, her counsel contends, it must be shown she was convicted of a crime involving moral turpitude under the law of the states where the acts complained of actually occurred."

Speak to the other fellow—he's all right. Tomorrow phone ad for the classified page. Just phone No. 111.

Mrs. Jane Ruder is suffering with an affliction of her feet. Mrs. Alice Johnson is improving slowly after being very ill for a week.

Spring Valley and community are grieved over the death of Mrs. W. M. Hartinger, which occurred Monday morning at 5 o'clock. Every one extends sympathy to Dr. Hartinger and his two little daughters in their bereavement.

The grammar room of our village under the direction of the teacher, Mr. C. P. Thompson, gave a play Thursday night in the Opera House that was enjoyed by all present.

Mrs. Clarence Bagford and son Carl visited Mrs. Bagford's brother, Jesse Jensen, and family, of Dayton, Sunday and Monday. While visiting at their home they had the pleasure of attending Sunday evening services at Patterson Memorial Church, where they heard Rev. Frederic N. McMillan, the radio preacher, address a large congregation.

Revival services begin at the M. E. Church next Wednesday evening at 7 o'clock. From the card which the correspondent just read, announcing the subjects to be given each evening, the meetings promise to be well worth while.

SOUTH AFRICAN PREMIER PUSHES TO BAR BLACKS FROM TRADES

CAPETOWN, South Africa, Mar. 17.—"The blacks of South Africa are protected by law against oppression by the whites," said General Hertzog, premier of South Africa, in an exclusive interview granted the United Press, "and it is our purpose to protect the whites against oppression by the blacks."

LUMBERTON

Thus the fiery head of the government, who was elected in opposition to the famous General Jann Smuts, explained the government's "Color Bar Bill," which has made the race question a hot issue here.

The bill would reserve to the whites employment in the "skilled trades," chiefly mining and work around machinery. Hertzog, who holds office by virtue of a combination of Dutch Nationalists and organized labor, is pressing the bill largely at the instance of labor.

General Smuts, on the other hand protests against such legislation on the grounds of unfair discrimination against the Negroes. He especially demands that its provisions shall not extend to the Cape Province where the blacks, who have long enjoyed the franchise and have considerable political influence are up in arms against it. There is also much hostile agitation in Natal.

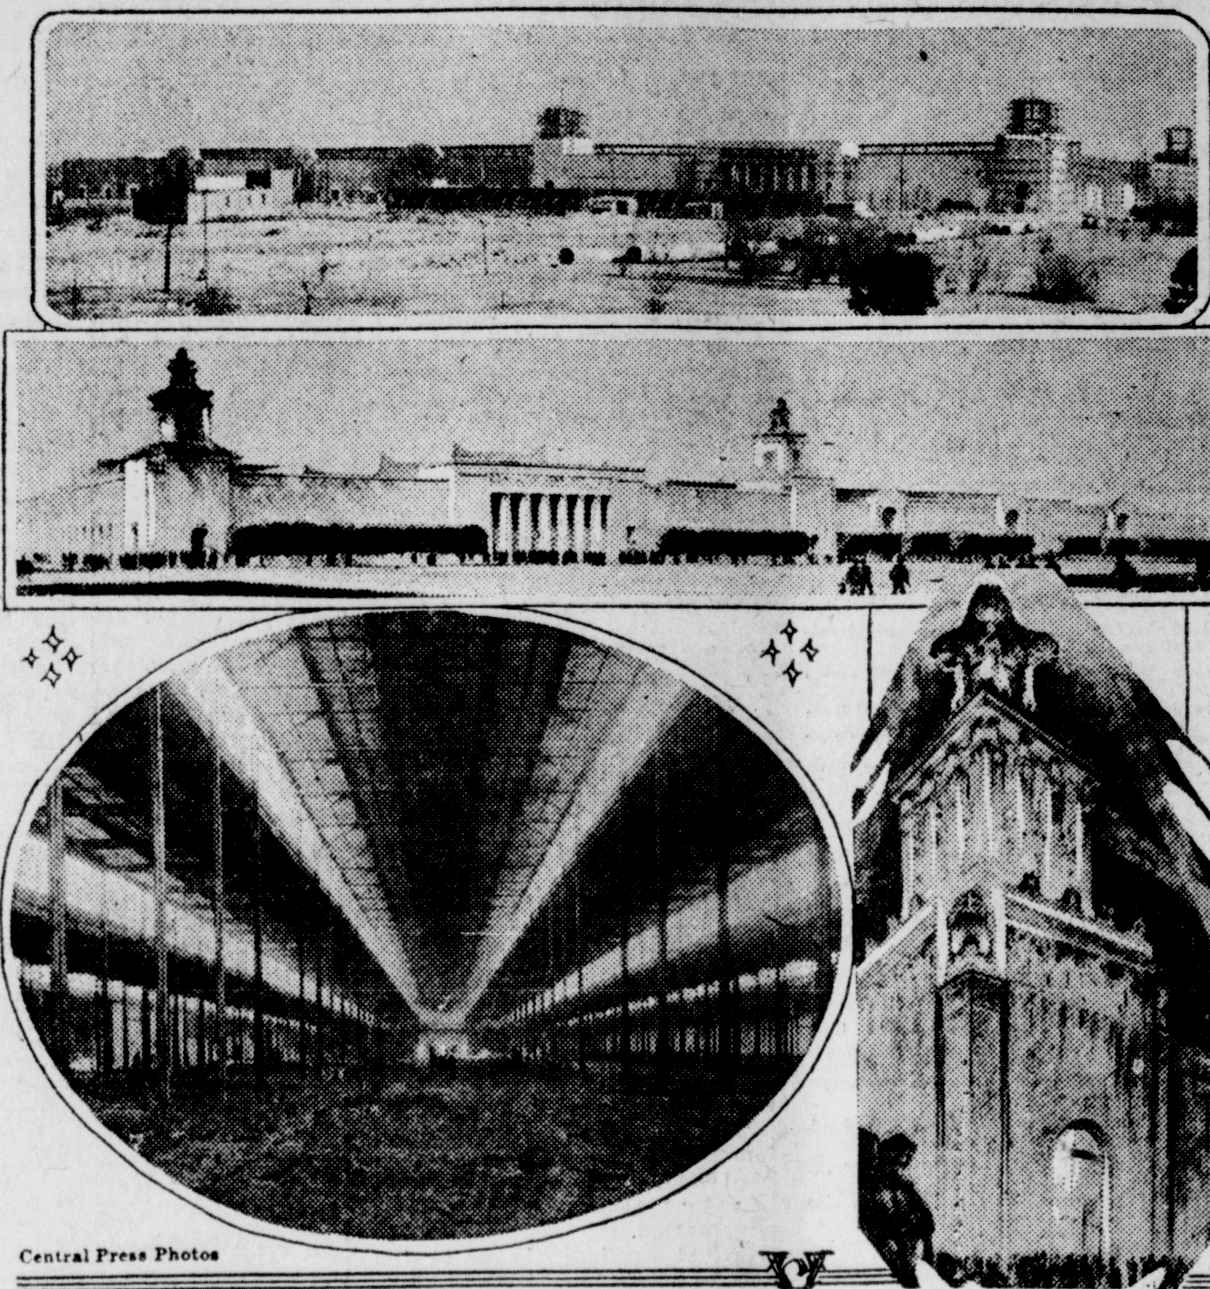

"General Smuts complains that we are throwing a firebrand into a haystack," continued the premier, "but as he very well knows, the haystack has long been on fire as race conflicts at Bulhoek, Port Elizabeth and Bloemfontein in the last few years testify. We hope that the new bill giving the whites the protection they need, will reduce the area of disorder."

"Our statute books are fairly teeming with laws protecting the natives from encroachments by the white man. If it had not been for these laws, the blacks would never have been able to hold their own against the whites."

"I do not see how it can be claimed that the Negro has a 'fundamental' or so-called 'natural' right to employment in mines and around machinery. If he has, then the white man has equally a 'fundamental right'—now defied him—to get the native's lands. The natives can't have it both ways. 'I would remind our objectors of the Biblical injunction, 'Thou shalt not have two measures, great and

Ford Costs More to Build Is Worth More—Yet Sells for Less

If any other manufacturer endeavored to produce a car similar to the Ford according to the high standards of quality in material and workmanship used by the Ford Motor Company and with the same tried and proved design it would be impossible to offer it at anything like the present low Ford prices.

If, on the other hand, the Ford Motor Company would substitute ordinary design for the basic Ford features, Ford cars could be produced and sold for less than the present Ford prices. Yet by so doing, Ford simplicity, durability and reliability would fall below the standard insisted upon by the Ford Motor Company and established throughout twenty-two years of leadership.

Just think! 13,000,000 model T Ford cars have been produced since 1908—almost as many automobiles as were built by all other manufacturers combined. In 1925, almost 2,000,000 Ford cars and trucks were built and sold—and plans for 1926 call for the production of even more than 2,000,000.

Today, more than ever, the Ford car is the most popular automobile in the world.

It was the superiority of Ford design in 1908 that established Ford leadership. It is this same Ford design, improved but basically unchanged, that is continuing to make the Ford car the outstanding leader among all automobiles.

A FLAVOR SUCH AS YOU NEVER BEFORE TASTED IN CANNED "COTS"

SOFT RIPE AND GOLDEN TO THE CORE BEFORE PICKED FOR CANNING

CANNED WHEN FULLY RIPE!

Probably you never tasted apricots that were allowed to become soft, ripe and luscious before they were canned? If you have never eaten any apricots but those that were picked before they were fully mature you have no idea of the delicious flavor of the really ripe fruit.

The Eavey Company is now introducing a new product — apricots that are FULLY RIPE when canned. Until you have tried them you will not know how delicious canned apricots can be. Only apricots that are fully mature and golden ripe are used. They have a richness, freshness of flavor never found in the fruit that has been gathered before it entirely ripens.

Because they are canned when soft and ripe these apricots are not peeled, but the peeling is so loose that it is a simple matter to remove it. We suggest that this be done as it adds to the tastiness of the fruit.

LOGAN GAS COMPANY WILL COLLECT RATE RAISE UNDER BOND

Ruling of Supreme Court Affects Forty Cities

By United Press
COLUMBUS, O., Mar. 17.—Supported by a decision of the state supreme court, the Logan Gas Co. today prepared to collect under bond, its second rate increase which was recently suspended by the public utilities commission.

The court's decision, coming late yesterday for use in morning papers, holds the commission's decision in abeyance until a rehearing is held before the commission. Thus, the second increase was made collectable at once. More than forty villages and cities will be required to pay the increased rate which supplements a previous one also being collected under bond. Should the rates be found excessive or permanently denied by the commission, the amounts collected in excess of the old cost, would be refunded.

DENY GERMAN LEAGUE SEAT

ADJOURN ASSEMBLY WHEN EFFORTS FAIL IN POSTPONEMENT

Locarno Agreements Lost With Failure to Enlarge Group

By United Press
GENEVA, March 17.—The first special session of the League of Nations assembly in the history of that organization adjourned today after unanimously voting to postpone Germany's admission to the League until September when the assembly will meet in regular session.

Failure must be written on the record as the result of the ten-day session which has just ended.

Germany's application for League membership will not be withdrawn, Stressemann told the United Press.

The Locarno agreements for European security which provided for peaceful arbitration for disputes between France and Germany, Poland and Germany, and Belgium and Germany, failed on consummation with Germany's failure to get into the League.

Until the moment the postponement vote was recorded the Germans stood by in their hotel ready to slip out of their traveling clothes and don long tailed, black ceremonial garb for entry into the League. Last moment negotiations began at 9 a. m. to circumvent the stalemate which was preventing Germany's admission.

By United Press
CLEVELAND, Mar. 17.—The solution of the murder of Samuel Volpe of Canton, whose frozen and bullet-riddled body was found in Pepper Pike Village, March 7, was believed near today.

An entirely new slant to the murder was given by the unearthing of new leads which caused investigators to abandon the theory that a contractor's or bootlegger's feud caused Volpe's brutal murder. Instead, they believe his attentions to a woman caused his death.

DELAWARE, O., March 17.—(UP)—Would-be governors of Ohio will discuss state government and practical politics for the benefit of political science students at Ohio Wesleyan University in a series of lectures to be given this spring.

OHIO MINERS MEET TO CONSIDER SOLUTION FOR INACTIVITY NOW

Industry May Become Extinct In State Is Warning Sounded at Columbus—Relief Plans Will Be Discussed

COLUMBUS, Mar. 17.—Sounding a warning that the Ohio mining industry threatens to become extinct, 200 mine operators assembled here today to seek some solution for the present period of inactivity.

The operators who will confer formally this afternoon represent 350 mines normally employing 12,000 men, in this Hocking and Sunday Creek Districts. The chief purpose of the conference was to contrive means of relief in the unemployment and operating situation.

Spokesmen for the operators said the latter planned seeking further wage reductions under the Jacksonville agreement but President John L. Lewis, of the United Mine Workers and Philip Murray, vice president, have insisted the agreement must stand.

A reasonable reduction in the scale, spokesmen pointed out, would permit rehabilitation of the fast diminishing industry and would enable the miners to earn double the money they were earning before the Jacksonville agreement was drafted.

COLUMBUS, O., March 17.—An attitude of expectancy of unforeseen developments prevailed today as hearings in the state wide investigation of proposed rate increases of the Ohio Bell Telephone Company, were resumed before the Public Utilities commission.

Although the hearings swung into their regular routine at an early hour, officials of the telephone company and members of the utilities commission, let it be known that the hearings were leading up to "an anti-climax," the nature of which was not disclosed.

The first witnesses today included C. P. Cooper, president of the telephone company, and John Richards, vice president and general auditor, W. T. Anthony, building and equipment engineer, and G. A. Kositsky, chief engineer.

JIMMY WALKER GOES THROUGH XENIA ON WAY TO CINCINNATI

Mayor of New York In Special That Traveled Late

PITTSBURGH, March 17.—A race between two Pennsylvania Railroad trains is now going on, the object being to try to get Jimmy Walker, mayor of New York City, to Cincinnati in time to fill a speaking engagement there to night.

The mayor's private car, the "Maryland," attached to Train No. 17 arrived in Pittsburgh thirty minutes late today and missed connections with Train No. 219 for Cincinnati, which left here at 9 a. m.

While railroad officials were pondering how to overtake the train, Walker slept peacefully, unaware of the furor.

Since there was no regular train from Pittsburgh to Cincinnati which would enable the mayor to reach there in time to deliver his St. Patrick's day speech, it was decided to hitch the Maryland to a special advance section of train No. 97 bound for Columbus.

This was done and at 10 a. m. the special began its race, hoping to reach Columbus in time to make connections there with the train missed in Pittsburgh.

Xenia train officials were notified that a train from Pittsburgh, bearing a special car, was due to arrive in Xenia at 2:40 Wednesday afternoon and were expecting to see Walker occupying the special car. The train only remains at the local station five minutes.

Ordinary run from Pittsburgh to Xenia takes about six hours, but with special schedules, the train leaving Pittsburgh at 10 o'clock, was expected to reach Xenia about 2:40.

CRACK FOUR SAFES, ESCAPE WITH LOOT

CLEVELAND, March 17.—Detectives were convinced today that an organized band of thieves well versed in the art of safecracking were responsible for the breaking open of four safes here during the night.

Knocking off the combinations of the four strong boxes with sledge hammers, the thieves made four successful hauls in the offices of the Muller Rubber Company, the International Harvester Company, Lawrence Auto Livery and the H. Heinz Company. No estimate of the loot was received by police from the firms.

Three of the four robberies were within a few blocks of each other.

EXPERT ANTI-CLIMAX AT PHONE RATE INCREASE HEARING NOW

Attitude of Expectancy Hovers Over State Investigation—President Of Company Takes Stand.

By United Press
COLUMBUS, O., March 17.—An attitude of expectancy of unforeseen developments prevailed today as hearings in the state wide investigation of proposed rate increases of the Ohio Bell Telephone Company, were resumed before the Public Utilities commission.

Although the hearings swung into their regular routine at an early hour, officials of the telephone company and members of the utilities commission, let it be known that the hearings were leading up to "an anti-climax," the nature of which was not disclosed.

The first witnesses today included C. P. Cooper, president of the telephone company, and John Richards, vice president and general auditor, W. T. Anthony, building and equipment engineer, and G. A. Kositsky, chief engineer.

Kositsky already has testified concerning the settlement of the $77,000,000 expansion contemplated by the company. The improvement program, to extend over a five year period and includes:

CONGRESS TODAY
Senate
Senator King, Democrat, Utah, continues attack on Federal Trade Commission and trusts.
House
Appropriations committee considers legislative supply bill.
Interstate Commerce committee considers railroad legislation.
Agriculture committee considers farm relief.
Merchant Marine committee considers reorganization of shipping board.

SPECIAL VENIRE IS DRAWN WHILE STATE FAILS TO PICK JURY

Youthful Slayer of Two Remains Calm At Trial

FREMONT, O., March 17.—Still unperturbed outwardly, William Clark, 22, came into common pleas court here again today to face trial for the murder of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Hoffman at their farm home near Helena, on Feb. 8.

A new venire of forty prospective jurors reported today as Clark sitting beside his counsel, heard the state select a jury that would not be adverse to assessing the death penalty.

Five women and seven men were seated in the jury box tentatively over yesterday.

The state has exercised one peremptory challenge and the defense three.

Clark was not the only interested spectator. Two other listeners were George Hoffman, father and Oscar Hoffman, brother of the slain men.

The jury was expected to be completed today and first testimony heard. It was expected the jury would be taken to the scene of the killings—the Hoffman farm home, where the couple was slain, when they were said to have surfaced.

VETERAN MAY GIVE BLOOD TO COOLIDGE

PHILADELPHIA, Mar. 17.—Howard M. Kennedy, a world war veteran, may give his blood to prolong the life of Colonel John Coolidge, father of the president.

Kennedy, who has submitted to thirty-nine blood transfusions in hospitals here, is said to have regained the quality of blood required by Col. Coolidge, should his physicians decide on transfusion.

Kennedy has been notified to hold himself in readiness should it be necessary to go to the Vermont home of Col. Coolidge.

CO-OPERATIVE PLAN NOT TRUST IS RULE

COLUMBUS, Mar. 17.—Co-operative marketing organizations as maintained by farmers and others are not in conflict with the Valentine anti-trust law and do not restrain trade, according to the supreme court.

DONAHEY LAUNCHES PERSONAL INQUIRY OF SHRUBBERY DEAL

Wilmington Man Says Exorbitant Prices Were Charged

By United Press
COLUMBUS, March 17.—Charges that the state agricultural department has paid extortionist prices for shrubbery and plants for state fair grounds and for shrubbery that was never delivered, was made the subject of a personal investigation by Gov. Vic Donahey today.

The governor's entrance into the inquiry marked the first of a series of developments expected as the result of testimony that the state has paid $3,500 for shrubbery and plants that could have been purchased for less than $500.

Simultaneously Attorney General C. C. Crabb, Deputy State Auditor Harry D. Silver and State Examiner C. F. Miller, prepared to go to Wilmington today and examine accounts of Trebor Weltz Company, for further evidence to support the charges that the state has been paying extortionate prices for shrubbery and plants.

Charles Weltz, salesman for the company, testified before State Auditor Tracy that the department of agriculture paid him from "five to ten times more" for plants and shrubbery than other customers did.

Shortly after arriving at his office, the governor called in Purchasing Agent John P. Brennan. After an interview with Brennan, the executive went personally to the office of Director of Agriculture Charles V. Truax and from there the latter's office he dashed to the office of State Fair Manager G. R. Lewis.

The governor refused to discuss his interviews.

"I shall have something to say at the proper time," he said.

Weltz will be questioned further, Crabb and Silver said. The salesman testified the state's purchases were made in 1924 and 1925 and without competitive bidding.

Weltz also testified he was enabled to obtain "those extortionate" prices because Truax and Lewis were "friends of his" although he denied there was any understanding between them. Weltz also denied he had many campaign contributions to the administration either in 1924 or 1925.

The salesman admitted he would have offered the plants and shrubs for at least one half of what he received for them, had competitive bidding been asked.

Asked why he charged the agriculture department such exorbitant prices, Weltz laughed and said "Because I could get them."

Under cross-examination, Weltz admitted having been sent to the Dayton Workhouse for bootlegging. He was pardoned in 1923 by Governor Charles F. Truax.

Weltz denied he had ever supplied liquor to certain state officials "as consideration for contracts" given him.

Subpoenas for the books of Weltz Company were issued by Tracy after Weltz refused to reveal names of the individual customers he said had paid him prices as high as those paid him by the state.

Lewis, questioned after Weltz, admitted competitive bids had not been requested on the contracts awarded Weltz.

A grand jury investigation may be asked by Tracy and Crabb as further facts come to light, officials said.

ALL SLOT MACHINES ARE NOT ILLEGAL

COLUMBUS, Mar. 17.—Not all slot machines are illegal, according to the supreme court.

The court has affirmed the lower courts of Hamilton County in reversing the state's case which had fined Henry Kraus of Cincinnati for operating a candy mint machine.

The machine in question sold regular sized packages of mints for a nickel and in some instances gave coupons. The machine also indicated whether coupons would drop in addition to the mints.

Motorists Must Learn New Traffic Laws - Here Are High Spots

City officials are calling attention of motorists to various provisions and several important additions to the revised city traffic ordinance, passed by City Commission last week, and effective in thirty days.

Motorists are advised to make a careful study of the ordinance for otherwise they may be held liable for violations of traffic regulations they never knew existed.

Ignorance of rules is discounted by the law as an excuse and motorists are urged to get acquainted with themselves with all regulations to strictly comply with the law. When the ordinance becomes effective in less than a month, provisions must be obeyed to the letter and will be rigidly enforced by police, it is warned.

One of the most important driving regulations provides the operator of a vehicle shall yield the right of way at the intersection of its path and the path of another vehicle to the machine approaching from the right. Only exceptions are on main thoroughfares and streets designated as "stop" streets by police order.

Vehicle joining the flow of traffic from a standing position, an alley, a building or private property or street intersection a main thoroughfare shall yield the right of way to all other vehicles.

Vehicles going on main thoroughfares shall have the right of way over those on streets or alleys intersecting main thoroughfares.

Vehicles shall cross the intersection where the automatic traffic control light is stationed only when the green light is lighted facing moving traffic. Any vehicle desiring to make a left turn at such intersection may advance facing the green light and proceed to the left without stopping provided that pedestrians and vehicles proceeding with the green light shall have the right of way.

and not be interfered with by machines turning to left of right. No vehicle may pass facing the red light.

City manager is authorized to designate parking space on streets by appropriate signs. Certain hours may be specified and motorists may be prohibited from stopping in "non-parking" places.

Vehicles crossing from one side of the street to the other must turn to the left so as to head in the same direction as traffic on the side of the street toward which the crossing is made.

Motorists are advised no spot light may be displayed except when rays are projected directly on the ground at a distance not to exceed fifty feet in front of the vehicle, and to the right of the center.

When another motor vehicle approaches, motorists are required to dim the headlights at a distance not to exceed 200 feet in front of such vehicle at night.

Don't some things give you a pain? Many human ailments are universal and Xenia physicians testify almost everybody has had an aching tooth, a "splitting headache," corns, boils, indigestion and many colds.

Xenia's most chronic ailment appears to be the common cough, it is the consensus of opinion among doctors.

Human aches walk hand in hand with the seasons and the weather. All manner of physical complaints are attributed to weather changes. It is alleged that "stolen fruit is the sweetest," but what of the inevitable raging pains in stomach following the theft of shining green apples from the farmer's orchard. Grip, indigestion, colds, measles, bronchitis, sinusitis, headaches, toothaches, earaches, boils and the various forms of rheumatism are the most hated and most common maladies, doctors believe.

There are some ailments that all flesh is heir to, here are some you may laugh at if you care to.

"Danderine" is a dependable tonic and will do wonders for any girl's hair. It nourishes, stimulates and strengthens each single hair, bringing back that youthful gleam, luster and vigorous luxuriance. Falling hair stops and dandruff disappears. "Danderine" is pleasant and easy to use.—Adv.

The Theatre

It has cost Charles Ray, "farmer boy" of the movies, a fortune to outlive a type. The fortune has been well-spent. He has accomplished his purpose.

Ray created a character. He was unique in the world of motion pictures. His torn hat was famous as are Lloyd's glasses and Chaplin's moustache and cane.

But Charles Ray was an actor first—a character later. Because he is an artist he could not endure being just a type. "I would rather do artistic work," he says, "and feel I am really creating something—and not have a dime, than do work which does not satisfy me and have millions."

He has proven his statement to of St. John's A. M. E. Church for more than forty years and held all the church offices. He was also affiliated with Wilberforce Lodge No. 21, F. and A. M. and with Damon Lodge, No. 29, Knights of Pythias. He was secretary of Cherry Grove Cemetery Board for more than thirty-six years.

Funeral services will be held Saturday afternoon at 1:30 at St. John's A. M. E. Church, with interment in Cherry Grove Cemetery. Social will be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Rickman, 709 E. Market St., Thursday night at 5 o'clock for the benefit of St. John's A. M. E. Church and band No. 11 under direction of Mrs. Rickman.

The Rev. T. L. Ferguson, district superintendent will hold his quarterly meeting, March 17, at the Third M. E. Church, E. Market St. The Mutual Benefit Society will meet Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. Florence McGathay, E. Market St.

Rev. O. O. Jones, E. Second St., has been called to the pastorate of the Second Baptist Church, London, Ohio.

The Rev. J. G. Robinson, Philadelphia, Pa., editor of the "A. M. E. Review" noted lecturer and extensive traveler, will preach at First A. M. E. Church Wednesday night at 8 o'clock.

background thoughts of spring days and the first circus, but it is practically certain that this harbinger will bill the town on the heels of the last gesture of winter.

The circus showman knows only one season because his tented performances dare not face the rigors of winter, but he takes advantage of every minute of good weather that presents itself. Storms and rainy days cut too deeply in his itinerary as it is for him to sacrifice premature sunshine in spring months.

The circus is an American institution that seems never to fade in popularity. The smell of the sawdust gets in the blood of American youth and it stays there until old age has pointed the path to the grave.

Robins may come and robins may go but the coming of the circus will be the one convincing sign that spring has come at last.

BELL TELEPHONE WILL ASK RATE INCREASE; WILL AFFECT XENIA

COLUMBUS, O., March 17.—The Ohio Bell Telephone Co. will soon apply to the State Public Utilities Commission for a general increase in rates throughout the state, President C. P. Cooper, of the company, announced this afternoon.

Cities against which the rate increase would be assessed include Tuscarawas, Xenia, Upper Sandusky, Fostoria, Lancaster, Piqua, Sandusky, Bellaire, Dayton, Toledo, Canton and Cleveland. Cooper's announcement came while he was testifying in the state-wide investigation of rate increases already proposed before the commission.

The new increase would be supplemental to the old involving procedure similar to that of the Logan Gas Co.'s demand of the commission's approval of a new rate schedule before the old had been approved or rejected.

BISHOP REESE WILL CONFIRM CLASS AT EPISCOPAL CHURCH

Rt. Rev. Theodore I. Reese, bishop coadjutor of the Episcopal diocese of Southern Ohio, will conduct the simple but beautiful confirmation service at Christ Episcopal Church, Wednesday evening.

Bishop Reese will also preach, discussing some of the practical questions of religion.

It is explained that confirmation is an act or ceremony that has come down from the earliest days of Christianity, through which a person takes upon himself the full responsibilities of church membership. It is sometimes spoken of as "the laying on of hands," which forms the central part of the service, symbolizing the bestowal of spiritual strength.

Preceding the services, a church supper will be served in the parlors of the First Baptist Church.

"Waiter, the menu," said Mrs. Ella Van Brink to the man behind her as she dined in a New York Hotel with David Blair. She reached for the paper and found in her hand not a menu but a summons in a $20,000 suit for the stolen affections of Blair, brought by Mrs. Blair.

A guest at the Wardman Park Hotel, Washington walked across the lounge to smell an attractive rose, only to find that it was metal. Static electricity sent a spark between her nose and the rose, and now she is suing the hotel for $20,000, because her startled scream attracted attention.

Because they live more natural lives and exercise more, men are more beautiful physically than women, according to Prof. Frank Kleeberger, of the University of California, who scorns modern women as "lopped-sided, clumsy, flabby or round-shouldered, and either too fat or too thin."

A Berlin merchant, broke, filed a petition in bankruptcy, only to win next day the $125,000 state lottery prize.

A Milwaukee woman picked a demure, quiet looking girl for her husband's secretary, only to find next week that her husband had been effectively vamped and had run away with the secretary.

Fred Horner did the best stick-work of the evening by totalling 622 to take two games in three from Waldorf Sachs in a Class B match.

Swindler managed to win the odd game in three from Barnett in the Class C series.

Gannon	182	191

EVANGELIST WILL CONDUCT SERVICES

The Rev. Elmer Pemberton, former pastor of the Friends Church at Wilmington, O., will be the evangelist during a revival in the local Friends Church, beginning Wednesday evening, March 17. The Rev. Mr. Pemberton is working under the auspices of the Church Extension Board for the five years meeting and has been conducting revivals through the West with marked success.

Special music will be arranged for each of the services.

Mrs. E. C. Carr

Toledo, Ohio.—"Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets are the best liver pills I have ever taken. I find them very beneficial to enliven the liver when it becomes sluggish. They relieve bilious attacks and bilious headaches. They are fine as a laxative and relieve one of a constipated condition of the bowels and are the best system regulator I have ever used. 'Pleasant Pellets' aid digestion and keep the stomach free from gas and distress.—Mrs. E. C. Carr, 634 Belmont Ave.

Obtain a vial of "Pleasant Pellets" now of your druggist and see how quickly you'll feel clear headed—full of vim and vitality. 60 Pellets for 30c.

VIVIAN MARTIN, who is at the head of the cast of "Puppy Love," was married recently, to A. W. Samuels, composer and advertising man. The ceremony was at the home of Neysa McMein, in New York city, attended by only a few intimate friends.

SCORING THE PROHIBITIONISTS for their refusal to consider a referendum in the dry law and declaring that the non-enforcement evil is becoming intolerable, Emory R. Buckner, United States attorney, has launched a movement for a compromise state enforcement law which would tolerate the sale of light wines and beer. This law he considers a necessary expedient to rectify the present disregard for law and to stop the sale of denatured alcohol liquor, "the poor man's poison." "There has been altogether too little voting on the subject," he declared.

HOPE HAMPTON (center) is suing Charles B. Dillingham (left) for cutting her out of the title role of "Mme. Pompadour" in favor of Wilda Bennett (right). She asks $68,000.

FADES from the silver screen, Constance Talmadge (above) will retire from motion pictures and devote herself to home life, United Artists announce. She recently married, and has only three pictures contracted to make.

A BELLER COAT of gray Cheney bengaline. The fashionable cape effect is carried out by a back panel, banded with fox fur. The collar is also of fox. Posing by Marion Dabney.

HERE'S A TURKEN, the bird that is a cross between a turkey and a chicken. Not handsome, perhaps, but important. The Santa Cruz, Cal., Chamber of Commerce has had many inquiries about this new fowl, which it is expected will soon replace the turkey for Thanksgiving dinners. The meat has all the rare flavor of turkey and all the tenderness of a barnyard broiler. Donald Cranbourne, 4-year-old son of the secretary manager of the Chamber of Commerce, is practicing with the lasso.

MODIFIED princess lines, bell sleeves and cleverly contrived godets are the outstanding style notes in a girlish frock of silk brocade worn by Blanche Sweet. The sleeves are finished with bands of fur and contrasting silk.

SIXI MURDER haunts young Martin Maroney, 19, he told the New York police after his arrest in connection with the slaying. In a signed confession, police say, he admits he was present on the night, three months ago, when the Senegalese pugilist was slain. Maroney is shown above (right) in the custody of Detective Walter Clancy.

TORCH. Able to cut through armor plate at the rate of one foot a minute, and under water at that, the torch devised by Commander Edwin Ellsberg (above) will be used in salvaging the sunken submarine S-51, cut down in Long Island Sound by coastwise steamer and sunk with great loss of life.

GOVERNOR SIGNS BILL. A. Harry Moore, New Jersey's chief executive, recently approved measure providing $5,000,000 in five yearly installments as part of New Jersey's share of cost of projected bridge between Fort Lee, N. J., and upper Manhattan. New York's Legislature is expected to appropriate a similar amount. The unofficial sketch of the bridge pictured at right is published in the current issue of the Popular Science Monthly. It gives the reader an accurate idea of the magnitude of the proposed structure, which, when completed, will have cost approximately $40,000,000 and be the largest in the world.

"Not Possible To Classify"
By Mack Sauer

THE MODERN BELLE

Mary Turner Downing, 215 Curtis St., Middletown, takes the $1.00 prize offered for the best parody on "The Modern Belle." Here it is!

The daughter never sits in the parlor
And knows hardly the use of a chair,
But like a butterfly she's flitting
Here, there and everywhere.
She smokes and flirts and charlestons,
She charlestons, and flirts and smokes;
She talks a lot of nonsense nothings,
But she is surely there on the jokes.

Her father must ride in a flivver
While she sports a gay limousine;
Her mother must wash with a washboard,
Instead of a washing machine.
But that doesn't bother this girle,
She spends with a positive thrill—
Because a bobbed head won't stay curly,
And the fashions refuse to stand still.

She reaches the bed at midnight
Or the wee small hours of the dawn;
It's seldom she ever sees daylight,
'Cause when she gets up it's gone.
She scolds at the clock and the housemaid
And raves at the dresser of hair;
She can't remember on this night
Which boy friend to expect to be there.

Her feet always ache just a little,
Her face is so very white,
Her eyes are so very heavy,
And her dress is so very light.
But her face is improved with cosmetics,
Which she doesn't mind to own;
Tho her fingers are heavy with diamonds—
There is one still free of a stone.

Then she falls in love with a fellow
Who supplies the missing stone there;
He marries her for her money,
She married him for his "air."
Everyone says "lucky devil,"
They're very well mated in life;
She got a sheik for a husband,
And he got a vamp for a wife.

A check is being mailed to Miss Downing today. Hope she will keep it and use it on All Fool's Day. Remember it's going to be a big day. Let's have more contributions. I. Will Tellum, let's hear from you again.

My good friend Dix of the Wooster Record let the following get into his paper the other day, "Before Lady Cathcart can be legally deported back to England, her counsel contends, it must be shown she was convicted of a crime involving moral turpitude under the law of the states where the acts complained of actually occurred."

Speak to the other fellow—he's all right. Tomorrow phone an ad for the classified page. Just phone No. 111.

SOUTH AFRICAN PREMIER PUSHES TO BAR BLACKS FROM TRADES

CAPE TOWN, South Africa, Mar. 17.—The blacks of South Africa are protected by law against oppression by the whites, said General Hertzog, premier of South Africa, in an exclusive interview granted the United Press, "and it is our purpose to protect the whites against oppression by the blacks."

Thus the fiery head of the government, who was elected in opposition to the famous General Jan Smuts, explained the government's "Color Bar Bill," which has made the race question a hot issue here.

The bill would reserve to the whites employment in the "skilled trades," chiefly mining and work around machinery. Hertzog, who holds office by virtue of a combination of Dutch Nationalists and organized labor, is pressing the bill largely at the instance of labor.

General Smuts, on the other hand, protests against such legislation on the grounds of unfair discrimination against the Negroes. He especially demands that its provisions shall not extend to the Cape Province where the blacks, who have long enjoyed the franchise and have considerable political influence are up in arms against it. There is also much hostile agitation in Natal.

"General Smuts complains that we are throwing a firebrand into a haystack," continued the premier, "but as he very well knows, the haystack has long been on fire as race conflicts at Bullhoek, Port Elizabeth and Bloemfontein in the last few years testify. We hope that the new bill giving the whites the protection they need, will reduce the area of disorder."

"Our statute books are fairly teeming with laws protecting the natives from encroachments by the white man. If it had not been for these laws, the blacks would never have been able to hold their own against the whites."

"I do not see how it can be claimed that the Negro has a 'fundamental' or so-called 'natural' right to employment in mines and around machinery. If he has, then the white man has equally a 'fundamental right'—now denied him—to get the native's lands. The natives can't have it both ways. "I would remind our objectors of the Biblical injunction, 'Thou shalt not have two measures, great and

Upper photo shows the great agricultural building, an interior view of which is at bottom. In center is a drawing of the auditorium, with space for 100,000, which now is going up. Inset is a drawing of the "tower of palace of liberal arts," which will adorn the grounds.

See the greater Hoover today!

The greater Hoover so far surpasses the fondest hopes of those who know what should be expected of an electric cleaner that it leaves no room for doubt as to its superiority over other modern cleaning devices.

Review in your mind what you've always hoped, some day, to find in the cleaner you will eventually own. Then, see this new triumph of the world's oldest and largest maker and you, too, will admit that

It Far Exceeds Your Anticipations!

You can safely expect great things of this new Hoover for the ability to do great things has been built into it. Indicative of this is the fact that, due to its revolutionary new principle, "Positive Agitation," it will remove, in the same cleaning time, 101% more dirt than did the previous model.

Ford Costs More to Build Is Worth More—Yet Sells for Less

If any other manufacturer endeavored to produce a car similar to the Ford according to the high standards of quality in material and workmanship used by the Ford Motor Company and with the same tried and proved design it would be impossible to offer it at anything like the present low Ford prices.

If, on the other hand, the Ford Motor Company would substitute ordinary design for the basic Ford features, Ford cars could be produced and sold for less than the present Ford prices. Yet by so doing, Ford simplicity, durability and reliability would fall below the standard insisted upon by the Ford Motor Company and established throughout twenty-two years of leadership.

Just think! 13,000,000 model T Ford cars have been produced since 1908—almost as many automobiles as were built by all other manufacturers combined. In 1925, almost 2,000,000 Ford cars and trucks were built and sold—and plans for 1926 call for the production of even more than 2,000,000.

Today, more than ever, the Ford car is the most popular automobile in the world.

It was the superiority of Ford design in 1908 that established Ford leadership. It is this same Ford design, improved but basically unchanged, that is continuing to make the Ford car the outstanding leader among all automobiles.
